

Delegated Authority Part 6

This audio teaching will increase your faith level and manifest encouragement.

Romans 10:17 (AMP)

So faith comes by hearing [what is told], and what is heard comes by the preaching [of the message that came from the lips] of Christ (the Messiah Himself).

In this final part on delegated authority, we explore the concept of believers operating in their God-given authority, as exemplified in the account of Moses and Aaron in the book of Exodus. Their actions serve as a model for how we, as believers, are to exercise spiritual authority in harmony with God's will.

Moses and Aaron were entrusted by God to act as His representatives, delivering commands to Pharaoh. This authority was not of their own making but was delegated to them by God. Similarly, as believers, we are called to operate in spiritual authority, directed by the Holy Spirit, to stand against the works of Satan and his demons. This authority is exercised through commands that align with God's will, as outlined in His Word.

Matthew 18:18 provides a foundational principle for this: "Truly I tell you, whatever you forbid and declare to be improper and unlawful on earth must be what is already forbidden in heaven, and whatever you permit and declare proper and lawful on earth must be what is already permitted in heaven" (AMP).

This emphasizes the importance of knowing God's Word so that our actions and declarations are in harmony with His will.

The term "delegate" itself means to entrust responsibility or authority to another. In the case of Moses and Aaron, their delegated authority was evident in their repeated command to Pharaoh: "Let my people go." This command, mentioned nine times in Exodus (though issued as seven distinct commands), demonstrates persistence and obedience in exercising their God-given authority.

For some, the idea of speaking with authority to the enemy may feel intimidating. Doubts or comparisons to others may hinder us from stepping into this role. However, just as God equipped Moses, despite his initial excuses, He will equip us to speak with boldness and confidence when we rely on Him.

The key to operating in delegated authority is understanding that it is not about our own strength or eloquence but about trusting in God's power and being obedient to His direction. By studying Scripture and seeking guidance from the Holy Spirit, we can discern what is permitted and forbidden, ensuring that our actions are in harmony with His purposes.

Let us take encouragement from the example of Moses and Aaron. May we grow in faith, embrace our delegated authority, and confidently stand against the enemy, knowing that God is with us and in us every step of the way.

Thank you for your diligence to learn and apply God's word.

Click here. Original source.

Click here. Delegated Authority (Links) Why? What? Who? Where? When? How?

